BATTLE FLAGS.-Gen. M. C. Meigs has suggested to the commissioner of pensions that the flags borne in battle by the soldiers of the United States and those captured by them in war be hung around the walls of the pension office building. He says also that the intent of all the acts of Congress regarding the captured flags is that they shall be displayed in some proper public place. Commissioner Tan-ner agrees with this suggestion, but is of the opinion that the roof of the pension building, which leaks badly, should be mended before the battle-flags are hung about the walls.

Examinations Strictly Non-Partisan. In connection with the order for the postoffice civil-service examination at Nashville. the civil service commissioners announce that: "All examinations held under its auspices are strictly non-partisan in character. All qualified ersons are invited to apply, whether d persons are invited to apply, whether demo-crats or republicans. They will be examined, marked, and certified purely with reference to their capacity. Political consideration will be allowed no weight whatever. The commission is determined to enforce the law in its latter and spirit; any employe of the government vio-lating it will be most rigorously punished."

This is to correct the impression they have found to exist in New York state and elsewhere that politics entered into the contests.

Once to that Island. THIS SEEMS TO HAVE RESULTED FROM A MYSTE-BIOUS DISPATCH FROM CAPT. KELLOGG-GOV BRNMENT OFFICIALS WILL NOT DIVULGE ITS CONTENTS-REPORTS OF RENEWED FIGHTING.

Late yesterday afternoon a cablegram was received at the Navy department from Capt. Kellogg, commanding the U. S. S. Ossipee, at St. Nicholas Mole, Hayti, supposed to be in response to the recent orders of the department to him to ascertain the condition of affairs in the island. Secretary Tracy refused to make public the contents of the message, and sent it over to Secretary Blaine at once, causing the most intense excitement around the depart-were at once revived and flew from mouth to mouth, strengthened when it was ascertained that orders had been sent to the U. S. S. Kearsarge, at New York, to prepare for a trip to Hayti. At first the Boston was selected for the mission, but for some reason the Kearsarge was substituted.

The receipt of the cablegram produced no more positive result than to seal hermetically every official mouth in both departments. Nothing, absolutely nothing, can be learned at the great departmental building as to the tenor of the dignates, whether it is also as to the tenor. of the dispatch, whether it indicates a peaceful state of affairs or the reverse. But the fact

A WARSHIP IS ORDERED TO THE SCENE is thought to indicate that the words that flashed northward from Capt. Kellogg yesterday were not entirely reassuring. This morning another effort was made to induce the State department officials to give out something that might serve as a hint to the contents of the message, but without success. ... An appeal was made to Mr. Walker Blaine by couple of reporters to consider how alarmed folks are becoming when silence is maintained about such a matter, while war ships are sent to the danger point. He was asked to make a statement that would allay fear, if such were the state of the case, but he repeated that he "could give no information about it." He referred the reporters to the Secretary, but the Secretary was inaccessible. RENEWED FIGHTING IN HAYTI.

Secretary Tracy, however, was willing to say that the dispatch did not reveal the existence Admiral Jouett is president will convene at of a dangerous state of affairs at Hayti, but hinted that it told of renewed fighting between the factions on the island. CONFERENCE AT THE NAVY DEPARTMENT. Commodore Ramsay, of the New York navy yard, had a long private interview with the Secretary of the Navy this morning. Without explaining the apparent discrepancy between is pacific statement and action Secretary

It was the original intention to send the Boston on this mission, and she could make the trip in about half the time that will be taken by the Kearsarge, but the latter has been subtituted because the Boston is what is technically known as a "fever ship," and it would be hazardous to again expose her to yellow fever.

THE WHITE HOUSE TO-DAY. Departure of Mrs. Harrison-The Presi dent's Callers-District Colored Men.

Mrs. Harrison, accompanied by her father, Dr. Scott, and her two grand-children and their nurses, left Washington at 9:30 o'clock this morning for a two-weeks' visit to Cape May. They will occupy the cottage of Postmaster-General Wanamaker, which has been specially prepared for their use. It is probable that the President will make them a short visit next week. The first thing the President did this morning was to make a few appointments. mentioned elsewhere. These were not even as crumbs to the hungry fishes, for they were not of the sort of diet political fishes feed on. While the candidates for collectorships and post-offices were waiting for an audience, the President talked with the civil-service commission in a thoroughly nonpartisan, no-spoils way, about their work toward the purification of the post-office civilservice examinations.

A few moments afterward Senators Teller and Hiscock and Representatives Butterworth and Mason talked with the President about the offices in a less non-partisan and anti-patronage

A DELEGATION OF DISTRICT COLORED MEN. A small delegation of District colored men introduced Mr. J. H. The delegation consisted of W. E. Matthews, H. H. Williams, Nathan Sprague, and John H. Smyth. They had some other business besides that of introducing Mr. Lewis. They talked with the President about the District recorder of deeds, presenting the name of a white man for that office. It was said also that Mr. Smyth is spoken of for a foreign mission. THINGS STILL BOOMING AT GUTHRIE. Commissioner of the General Land Office Stockslager, who is about to retire, called on the President this morning with his brother, . A. Stockslager, of Guthrie. The latter is here with Horace Speed, as a committee in the interest of town site settlers in Oklohama. Mr. Stockslager says things are still booming at Guthrie. "We have four banks," he said, "with over a million dollars, and lots of booming business establishments. We are making bricks and cement and building rapidly. There are forty lumber yards in the city."

JUNIOR AMERICAN MECHANICS. A committee from the junior order of the United American Mechanics armed with a letter from Governor Beaver, laying an address relating to their order before the President. Among the other callers were the following with various but similar personal missions: L. H. Hill, North Vernon, Ind.; A. L. Wardworth, of Norfolk, who is a delegate to the 23d national encampment of the G. A. R.: James D. Hardy, Norwich, Conn.; Gerhard Gjestsen, of Minne-apolis; Mr. W. P. Brownlow and Zachary Tayar, of Tenn.; Dr. W. P. Jones, with a letter of introduction from Representative Taylor, o Tenn.; T. J. Butler, of Arizona; W. P. Russell architect, of Charleston, S. C.; A. P. Tutton and Mr. S. P. Brown, of Washington.

The President to-day made the following appointments:

Mark D. Flower, of Minnesota, to be supervising inspector of steam vessels at St. Paul.

Third lieutenants in the revenue service: R. H. Bertholf, R. O. Crisp, F. G. Dodge, L. L. Bobinson and P. H. Bresreton.

Mr. Flower, appointed supervising inspector of steam vessels, succeeds Geo. Hays, removed. Flower is a veteran of the war, and is an old steamboat captain. He held the office for six years, and was the first officer of the steamboat inspection service removed by President Cleveland. He is a personal friend of Secretary Windom.

Meeting of the Board of Public Works at Annapolis. PRESIDENT GAMBRILL'S REPORT SUBMITTED AND A

Annapolis, Mp., June 13 .- The Chesapeake and Ohio canal was the subject of considerable discussion at Annapolis to-day. The board of ing to consider ways and means by which the wrecked water-way might be rebuilt and put in thorough working order. The meeting was called to order in the executive chamber by Gov. Jackson, who, with State Controller Baughman and State Treasurer Archer, represented the interests of the state of Maryland. Others present were President Gambrill, Directors James G. Berret, Hamill, Ahalt, Dobbin and Annan, Treasurer Spencer Watkins and Accountant Avers.

President Gambrill read the report on the condition of the canal, which in substance was the same as that printed in THE STAR.

The sum of $300,000 was the estimate for re pairs, but the report stated that the work might be done for $250,000, or less. President Gambrill's report, the latter portion of which was read by Col. Berret, because Mr. Gambrill was attacked by a nervous chill, concluded as

PRESIDENT GAMBRILL'S CONCLUSIONS. credit? That it is important to the interests of | that the state, the coal shippers, the bond holders and the business interests along the line from coal-fields and industries of western Maryland were developed thereby, adding greatly to the taxable property of the state. For many years it was practically the regulator of freights from the western part of the state to the seaboard, especially on coal, and it was the means of Baltimore city getting its coal at much lower rates than it could have gotten it by rail had not the canal not been in existence. To abandon the canal will be a great calamity to the state, and especially to that portion through which it runs.

But how can it be restored? By the constitution the state is prohibited from lending aid to any works of public improvements. The bond holders of 1844 have a lien upon all the net revenues, and as they have received no interest since July, 1864, it is useless to look to them for relief. BONDHOLDERS CAN FORECLOSE.

The bonds of 1878 are a first lien on the corpus of the work, the state having waived her claim in its favor. On these bonds four coupons are now overdue and on the 1st of July next another coupon will become due. The holders of these bonds are now in a condition to institute proceedings to foreclose, and in the present condition of the canal it is not likely that they will advance money to the company. The only mode, therefore, that suggests itself to your board for raising the amount necessary to restore the work is by a subscription from the others who are so deeply interested in its rest oration. The security which the canal can offer for such a loan is an issue of repair bonds under the power vested in the company under the act of 1844, chapter 281, or by the issue of the toll certificates such as have been on several occasions issued. With this view the board have therefore determined to call a meeting of all those who are interested in the preservation of the canal, to be held at the company's office in Georgetown on Wednesday, the 19th of June, to take into consideration this subject and the future of the canal." IN FAVOR OF REPAIR BONDS. John P. Poe, of Baltimore, who represented stockholders, but especially the bondholders of 1884, made a strong legal argument in favor of the issuance of additional repair bonds. He quoted from decisions of the supreme court of the state of Maryland to show that the corporation could properly do anything which was necessary to its existence as a carrier and they offered a resolution pledging the canal company to do all in its power to restore the canal at the earliest possible moment.

The resolution provides for the issuing repair bonds, the security for which shall he future tolls and revenues of the canal. the future tolls and revenues of the canal. At the suggestion of Treasurer Archer a proviso was added, calling upon the attorney-general of the state for his opinion as to the legality of such issue. An additional resolution author-izes the president and board of directors to issue toll certificates if they deem such action hoped there would be no opposition to the resolutions offered. The importance of the canal to Maryland and to the District of Columbia was great. The coal shippers, the boatmen, the farmers and the residents of the District were all interested. Two hundred thousand tons of Cumberland coal were annually consumed in the District of Columbia. The advance consequent upon the destruction the canal would no be less than 50 cents a ton PRESIDENTIAL APPOINTMENTS.

the canal would no be less than 50 cents a ton—
a total of $100,000 a year. This sum capitalized would be much greater than that which would be required to rebuild the entire canal. Much of this coal was used by the government and the government ought to be interested in it.

No help could, however, be looked for from city to-night with the necessary requisition papers. No help could, however, be looked for from that quarter and none could come from the District of Columbia. The general government had tied the hands of the District. It allowed the residents of Washington to pay taxes, and then it distited the manner in which the money should be disbursed. The repair of the canal was necessary to the welfare of the District, but is not at liberty to help itself, as it would if it had a local government. If anything was done it must be done by those individuals whose business interests were intertwined with the existence of the canal. He believed something would be done and done speedily. The construction of this artery of commerce was a calamity, but it was a calamity which might be overcome. The great flood of 1876 was almost as disastrous, but in in the lexicon of canal management in those days there was no such word as fail.

TWO CENTS.

THE RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED. The resolutions were then unanimously adopted. The board of public works and afterward the board of directors re-elected Mr. Gambrill president, and gave a new lease of official life to all the other officers and directors.

The next meeting of the board of directors will be held at the Georgetown office of the canal company on Wednesday next at 11 a. m. To this meeting the millers, coal shippers, merchants and others interested in the canal have been invited and out of the conference ome practical conclusion is expected.

gone just as far as we can," said Gov. Jackson to Trie Star reporter. "We are anxious to have the people know that it is our sincere desire to do everything possible for the canal. These repair bonds will doubtless be issued very corp but it is a constitution of the canal. AN ATTEMPT ON GLADSTONE'S LIFE. very soon, but it is a question as to whether or not there will be found capitalists who will invest when they have staring them in the face the repair bonds of 1848, the holders of which have an absolute and incontestible right to foreclose on the entire property. It may be that some rich and patriotic men will be willing to place their money in these bonds solely be-cause of the good they may do, and not because of the profit there may be in it. The lien we offer—on the revenues of the canal—is not the most promising. The canal revenues have never been enough to support it."

The importance of this statement lies in the statement that it corroborates Woodruff's story as related to Chief Hubbard to a remarkable degree. It connects Woodruff with Coughlin, the detective, also, and furnishes another link in the chain of evidence which is coiled around

MANY MEN UNDER SURVEILANCE.

"We have at least a dozen men under close surveilance in different parts of the country," said Luke Dillon. Mr. Dillon was busily engaged in wading through a mass of correspondence. "I think I understand the motive of this crime so well that I can pick out the men most likely to be engaged in it. I am in constant communication with men equally well posted, and through their earnest co-operation have every reason to hope for success. If the men who made that conspiracy were members of the Clan-ne-Gael, and I believe that the most of them were, they will be discovered and convicted."

STANLEY DENIES THE STORY. Mr. Jack Stanley, of the city sewerage department, declares that the story in a morning paper to the effect that he had seen Detective Coghlin and Woodruff in frequent conference previous to Dr. Cronin's death is untrue, that the only foundation for the story was that he had expressed a fear that Woodruff would steal

TO-DAY'S PROCEEDINGS. The principal interest in the Cronin case was centered this morning in the grand jury that met at 10 a. m. The strict orders of secrecy which were instituted yesterday were in no wise departed from. A bailiff stood guard at the foot of the stairs below the jury room and no one but witnesses and officers of the court was even allowed to ascend to the floor above. In accordance with the general summons issued, various witnesses arrived early on the scene. Mrs. Conklin and John J. Cronin were the first to make an appearance. the former leaning on the arm of the murdered man's brother. The Carlsons, father and son, came next, and were followed by Capt. Schetler and Pat Dinan, the liveryman. Luke Dillon and P. W. Dunn spent a few minutes in the jury room, but only to give suggestions as to the propriety of summoning certain gentlemen who might supply missing links in the long chain of circumstances.

CHICAGO, June 13 .- The Herald this morning says: Tom Desmond, an Irish nationalist from the Pacific coast, is wanted by the police for supposed complicity in the butchery of Dr. Cronin. The details of Desmond's supposed connection with the great crime are as yet very meager. It is known, however, that he engaged a room at McCoy's hotel April 16 last, the day before Maroney, of New York, under the assumed name of W. G. Melville, arrived,

As the morning advanced the weather grew warmer and by 10 o'clock the sun was shining brightly, and every one on the ground was hard at work. During the morning a crowd of worthless loafers in some manner secured an entrance to the town and wanted to inaugurate a strike among the workmen. Some of the laborers were already dissatisfied at having new bosses over them and only wanted a chance to complain. James Mc-Knight, of Pittsburg, of the state contractors, got wind of the trouble brewing and went among the men and informed them that he would have no kicking and that all those who wished to quit would have The general feeling among the directors is to do so immediately and about 100 of the men one of hopefulness, but it does not seem to be left, but the loafers remained around and Mr. founded on any very solid basis. "We have McKnight went to Gen. Hastings and demanded sue an order to the soldiers not to admit any one to Johnstown proper without an order. THE BUSINESS MEN OF THE TOWN seemed to have awakened to their senses, and this morning a number of them were preparing to start over again in business. Two grocery stores were started near the Pennsylvania railroad freight station. Both places were doing a land office business, and this encouraged other merchants to start up, and the probabilities are that inside of a week at latest a hundred stores will be in operation. Already two barber shops and one jewelry store have been opened.

Gen. Hastings was up very early this morning and was kept hustling for several hours to get things rightly started. He said: "As yet I do not know how many men are at work, but I suppose there must be 1,500 at the least calcuwe want more than 5,000, and it will be an easy matter to get that many men. I do not want to employ any one but Pennsylvania men, and would like to get as many Johnstown people at work as A Connection Between Them Showing possible. They are the ones that need the work. A false impression has gotten out to the effect that the boroughs here are under martial or military law. This is a mistake. The state whether we will clean out the cellars of that he "knew that fellow Woodruff." Hart the houses, but if I had my own way I would do it. It is as little as the state there is not the least doubt but there are a number of bodies in these cellars, and they should be taken out." Gen. Hastings has now gotten everything morgue and hospital and one headquarters, Everything has now been centralized, and it is easy to get at the facts.

DISTRICTING THE BURROUGHS. Capt, Seers of the U. S. A., one of the corps of engineers at Willet's Point, and Capt. Bur bank, of the West Point engineering corps, have laid out the different burroughs in five districts, and competent men have been appointed to take charge of each district. Capt, Seers, in an interview, said: "I am only here to advise Gen. Hastings and do what I can to help him. I think that inside of two weeks the 3,000 or 4,000 men that will be at work will succeed in putting the town in very good condition, and I think inside of a month Johnstown will have almost recovered from this terrible shock.

THE LOSS OF LIFE LESS THAN EXPECTED.

The general opinion among well-posted people here is that the loss of life will be between 3,000 and 4,000. It was generally given out that Johnstown and boroughs adjoining had a population of 35.000 good people, but this is a very high estimate, and conservative people put the population between 25,000 and 28,000.

Col. Rogers, who has charge of the registration, states that from all he can learn this population only amounted to about 25,000, and this accounts for 10,000 people supposed to be lost. The reports sent out from here to the effect that 12,000 to 15,-000 people are missing were based upon the supposition that there were 35,000 in-habitants in these boroughs. The reports as to the number of bodies recovered at different points along the flooded districts are very conflicting. Supposed official reports have been sent in by different persons, and these are also conflicting and put the number of bodies recovered anywhere from 1 100 to 1 800. Correcepts there from 1 100 to 1 800. where from 1,100 to 1,800. Consequently there is no telling how many bodies have been reco-

A DIFFERENT STORY.

Chaos Said to Reign Supreme at Johnstown. PITTSBURG, Pa., June 13 .- A special to the Leader from Johnstown says: Chaos reigns supreme here to-day. Everybody is excited and petty quarrels and conflicts between the laboring men and their bosses are of frequent occurrence. At 8 o'clock this morning the town was swarming with laboring men of all types and nationalities, but the conditions of "$1.50 per day and buy your own rations," under which they were to be employed did not appear to be much of an inducement, and as a result only one hundred men are now engaged in clearing one hundred men are now engaged in clearing away the debris. This gang is engaged in clearing away and burning rubbish in Kernville. Not a solitary man is at work on the mass of ruins and putrefying flesh above the stone bridge, the stench from which is fast becoming unbearable. The indications now are that this day will be wasted and that to-morrow will witness no more progress with the work

THE FIRST CONFLICT AMONG THE WORKMEN occurred at 6 o'clock this morning, when an attempt was made to dethrone the foreman of the western forces. The contractors disorganized the gang and put a strange foreman in charge. The men refused to continue work under any other than their own foreman. The contractors would not concede the point and the laborers returned to their tents, where they laborers returned to their tents, where they are still quartered and say they will return home before they will work under a strange foreman. A gang of over 200 Italians was hired to take the places of the strikers. The laborers did not take kindly to the Italians and intimidated them at every opportunity. No open conflict occurred, however, until

THE ITALIANS WERE AT BREAKFAST. One of the American laborers made an insulting remark to one of the dagoes and the latter answered in the same manner. Hot words were exchanged resulting in a raid on the Italians who were thrown bodily out of their tents. The Italians reported the matter to Contractor McKnight, who in turn reported the matter to General Hastings. The general expressed his determination to suppress such outbreaks at all hazards. The assurance that all men would be thoroughly protected from violence, however, did allay the fears of the Italians, and the majority of them returned to their tents. Bystanders say that the conduct of the Americans to the Italian laborers was out-rageous. Contractor McKnight told the Ital-ians to prepare to go to work to-morrow and he would guarantee that they would not be molested.

THE CRONIN CASE IN ENGLAND. How the Unionists Regard the Arrest of Sullivan.

pecial Cable Dispatch to Tur Everyee Bran. London, June 13.—The Cronin jury's verdica has revived the drooping spirits of the unionists. Sullivan's arrest is regarded as a stick with which to beat Parnell. Le Caron told the court that he sat on the committee that ex-pelled Cronin in 1886 for treason, lying and violation of his oath. The Pall Mall Gaustie thinks the Chicago jury precipitate in its logic to assume that because the two men were en-mies therefore Bullivan killed Cronin.
